Art Miami Unveils 2026 Participating Exhibitors for 36th Edition, December 1-6

A global presentation of modern and contemporary art takes over One Herald Plaza, with leading galleries from 25 countries, special exhibitions, and programming honoring Shepard Fairey

MIAMI (October 1, 2026) – Art Miami, Miami's original and longest-running international contemporary art fair, has unveiled its 2026 participating exhibitors for its milestone 36th edition, returning to One Herald Plaza from December 1-6 during Miami Art Week with tickets now on sale. Galleries from 25 countries will participate in this year's edition, representing major art capitals including London, Paris, Berlin, Seoul, Hong Kong, Dubai, Istanbul, Bogotá and Tel Aviv, alongside galleries from across the United States and a strong presence from Miami and South Florida.

For more than three decades, Art Miami has been a cornerstone of Miami Art Week and a force within the global art market. Set on Biscayne Bay, the fair is distinguished by its concentration of investment-quality art spanning the 20th and 21st centuries and its audience of collectors, museum directors, curators and advisors. The 2026 edition will present primary and secondary-market works ranging from blue-chip modern masters and Post-War and Pop icons to contemporary paintings, sculpture, photography, design, works on paper, prints and new media.

Returning exhibitors include Allouche Gallery, Ascaso Gallery, Boccara Gallery, David Benrimon Fine Art, DUQUE ARANGO GALERIA, Ethan Cohen Gallery, Opera Gallery, Vallarino Fine Art, Wetterling Gallery, joined by galleries from Europe, Asia, Latin America and the United States. English contemporary artist, Lucy Sparrow will also be returning to the fair after the immense success of her Felt candy store installation last year. Sparrow's presence at this year's fair comes after her first US Museum exhibition this summer, "The Beginning of Convenience" at the Crystal Bridges Museum's contemporary art hub, the Momentary. The fair's home city also continues to make a strong presence with over 20 galleries from Miami and surrounding cities. Their presentations will offer collectors access to museum-quality and market-significant works across generations, reinforcing Art Miami's position as both a destination for acquisition and a meeting point for the art community during Miami Art Week.

Also back for another year, renowned international luxury jewelry brand Yvel continues to be a sponsor as the Official Jeweler of Art Miami. Celebrated for its unparalleled artistry in crafting exceptional pieces around nature's most exquisite resources, this award-winning label has consistently pushed the boundaries of design, leading to its legendary reputation for outstanding free-form creations and embodying the philosophy of "Art to Wear."

"The 36th edition of Art Miami reflects the caliber and global perspective that have defined the fair for more than three decades," said Nick Korniloff, Executive Vice President and Director of Art Miami Fairs. "Each year, we bring together exceptional galleries, artists and collectors, creating meaningful opportunities for discovery and acquisition across generations. I'm particularly excited by this year's presentations and the range of work collectors will encounter in Miami."

At the center of this year's programming, renowned artist, and activist Shepard Fairey will be honored as the recipient of the 2026 Art Miami Lifetime Visionary Award, recognizing his enduring contributions to contemporary art, culture and social discourse. Fairey will formally accept the honor during Miami Art Week.

Fairey's presence will extend across the Art Miami fair family throughout Miami Art Week. At Art Miami, a curated presentation inside the VIP Lounge will highlight significant works from across his global portfolio. Fairey will also perform exclusive DJ sets during the opening evening of CONTEXT Art Miami (7:30pm – 9pm) and the VIP Preview of Aqua Art Miami, while a new exterior façade mural at the Aqua Hotel in Miami Beach will leave a memorable addition to the city's visual landscape.

His contributions will be celebrated at a ticketed private cocktail reception and dinner on Thursday, December 3, at Boulud Sud and the evening will feature a menu personally prepared by Michelin-starred Chef Daniel Boulud, with a portion of proceeds benefiting the Perry J. Cohen Foundation and its arts-focused programming.

Art Miami, together with sister fair CONTEXT Art Miami, will open on December 1 with an exclusive Platinum VIP Preview from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. for Art Miami and CONTEXT Platinum VIP Passholders, followed by the invitation-only VIP Preview from 1-4 p.m. for Art Miami, CONTEXT and Aqua VIP Passholders, as well as VIP Passholders from Art Basel Miami Beach, Design Miami and Untitled, and accredited press. Both previews will benefit the Pérez Art Museum Miami (PAMM), ahead of the fair's public opening at 4 p.m. Also unique this year, CONTEXT Art Miami will stay open until 9:30pm on December 1st, extending its hours beyond Art Miami's 8:00pm closing time.

Beyond the gallery presentations, Art Miami offers a full-day experience designed to be enjoyed from opening to close. The fair features sweeping waterfront views and multiple hospitality spaces, including cafés, bars, a VIP Lounge and the outdoor waterfront Sundeck, where collectors and visitors can dine, have a drink and connect throughout the day. For those looking to avoid art week traffic, the fair is conveniently situated near this year's Water Taxi stop. Guests can also easily move between Art Miami and CONTEXT through a connecting passageway, experiencing both fairs in one stop. Conveniently located in Downtown Miami, the waterfront setting serves as an ideal home base for navigating Miami Art Week, bringing together art, culture, hospitality and the social energy of the week in one destination.
