

MIAMI ART WEEK 2012 BRINGS RECORD-BREAKING SALES FOR ART MIAMI AND CONTEXT ART MIAMI

STRONGEST SALES & ATTENDANCE IN THE FAIR'S 23 YEAR HISTORY

MIAMI, Fla. – (Dec. 12, 2012) – In its 23rd year as the anchor fair to the city of Miami, Art Miami, the premiere international contemporary and modern art fair and its new sister fair CONTEXT Art Miami closed with record breaking attendance and sales in excess of $50 million with many galleries selling important works to major museums, private foundations and international collectors. Within hours of the opening, gallery owners were reporting extraordinary, unprecedented six & seven figure dollar sales with a number selling out their booths before fair's end.

Over 60,000 international collectors, museum professionals, art world luminaries and enthusiasts visited Art Miami and CONTEXT Art Miami throughout the week with over 11,000 patrons attending the exclusive VIP Preview that took place on Tuesday Dec 4 which benefited the Miami Art Museum.

New on the scene, Art Miami's sister fair, CONTEXT Art Miami in its inaugural edition proved to be one of the strongest markets to acquire emerging and cutting-edge art with several galleries selling out their booths.

"We have been at every Art Miami and this was probably the best of all. We met a number of new collectors, sold to two museums and generally had a very positive experience. We were regularly told by collectors how much they enjoy the buzz at Art Miami and certainly it would seem the galleries did good business. We do several prestigious fairs around the world and for the second year, Art Miami was the best," Peter Osborne, Gallery Director. London-based Osborne Samuel.

Jamie Smith, Partner and Director of CONNERSMITH, referred to the fairs as the strongest Art Week in the past decade and added, "This week at Art Miami and CONTEXT Art Miami, we have made the largest volume of sales that we have ever made at any fair in Miami since 2002."

Newcomer to Art Miami, Michael Lyons Weir of Lyons Weir Gallery enthusiastically stated "This was our first year participating in Art Miami & CONTEXT. We were delighted by the quality of the attendance and extremely pleased by the brisk sales. We have been participating in Miami Art Week since it's inception and this was by far our most successful outing."

Some of the boldest names in the Art World attended the fairs throughout the week and actively acquired the works on display including Darlene & Jorge M. Pérez, developer and longtime trustee of the Miami Art Museum – to be renamed next year as the Pérez Art Museum Miami; Eric Schmidt, Executive Chairman, Google, Howard Frank, COO and Vice Chairman of the Board of Directors, Carnival Corporation; Thom Collins, Director, Miami Art Museum, James Rosenquist, acclaimed American Pop Artist; Lucien Clergue, world-renowned French photographer; Arnold L. Lehman, Director of the Brooklyn Museum; Holly Hotchner, Director of the Museum of Arts & Design; Sarah Arison, arts activist and philanthropist; rocker Lenny Kravitz; Carol Damian, Director of Frost Art Museum and international collectors Dennis and Debra Scholl, Ted and Ruth Baum, Marvin & Elayne Mordes, Marvin Ross Friedman & Adrienne Bon Haynes,

Jack Tilton , Eric Feder, Steve Lavigne and Jonathan Blue Louisville. Other notable attendees include Artist Béatrice Helg; Kristen Hileman curator at the Baltimore Museum of Art; Jeffreen Hayes, curator at the Birmingham Museum of Art; Stephen Bennett Phillips, curator for the Federal Reserve Collection; Francis Thompson, curator for Capital One Art Collection; Artists Peter Anton who created one of the highlight installations "Sugar & Gomorrah"; Artist Pablo Castillo and fashion designer, Tommy Hilfiger.

The fair aisles continued to overflow with copious numbers of museum groups and collector tours through-out the week including The Phillips Collection, Washington DC - Director, Dorothy Kosinski, Curator at Large, Klaus Ottmann and Chief Curator of Modern & Contemporary Art, Vesela Sretenovic; lead a delegation of trustees and high-level collectors. The Frost Art Museum, Director Carol Damian conducted a tour for trustees, donors and Fair VIP's, Groups from HSBC Private Wealth, Vivian Pfeiffer of Christie's lead a group of international collectors, The Smithsonian Institute, Curators from Apple North America and Latin America, Bass Museum, Miami Art Museum, San Antonio Museum, Philadelphia Museum of Art, American University Museum, International Center of Photography, NY, Museum of Art | Ft. Among the many spectacular highlights at this year's fairs were the display of five of famed graffiti artist Banksy's works presented by Art Miami and I PXL U, the new photo sharing platform; The Art Video | New Media Lounge curated by LaRete Art Projects, with the video program Girls or Boys? Who Cares?! showcasing a hand-picked selection of video art sourced from museums, private collections and art institutions around the globe and Peter Anton's experiential carnival ride in "Sugar and Gomorrah".

What major art world figures are saying:

Jorge Perez of The Related Companies

"I have been following Art Miami since its inception. I have seen it grow and become better every year. It is a fantastic addition to the growing Miami art scene and this year in particular, with the addition of Context, the fair was truly outstanding".

Dennis Scholl of The Knight Foundation

"Art Miami has continued to evolve over the last few years in representing more blue chip works. You can walk around the fair and see some really wonderful works by modern masters and that's a huge improvement for the Fair. The level of participating galleries only continues to improve each and every year. This is a great night – and we don't miss it. We really appreciate Art Miami and CONTEXT making the gesture to continue to support the local arts community with the VIP Preview benefitting the Miami Art Museum".

Thom Collins, Director Miami Art Museum soon to be named the Perez Art Museum of Miami

"Historically Art Miami is the Fair where I buy for myself. I feel very comfortable here and its grown in such a smart way and in such an impressive way so I am very happy that the museum has partnered with Art Miami".

VIP and Philanthropic events attracted top collectors and raised much needed funds throughout the week. The Buoniconti Fund to Cure Paralysis held an exclusive VIP cocktail reception to honor artist Ma Desheng on Thursday, December 6th. Guests included Nick and Lynn Buoniconti, Marc Buoniconti, Judi and Bob Newman, Newman Center for Performing Arts of Denver, Suzie Sayfie, Victoria Ranger-Nunez and Mike Nunez, Marguerite and Hank Courtney, Frances Sevilla-Secasa, CEO of ITAU Private Bank International and of course artist Ma Desheng.

"Show management for Art Miami and CONTEXT Art Miami are particularly pleased that we have been able to continue to be good neighbors and not only contribute financially to a number of significant local not for profit organizations but were able to also provide a unique platform for several groups to interconnect with an important international audience including the Miami Art Museum's soon to be the new Perez Miami Art Museum; the Art Dealers Association of America's efforts to raise funds and awareness for galleries destroyed by Hurricane Sandy and The Buoniconti Fund's vital work in support of The Miami Project to Cure Paralysis", states Nick Korniloff.

On Friday, December 7th, Christie's International Real Estate, Art Miami's Official Luxury Real Estate Partner invited top clients from around the globe for an exclusive champagne reception in the VIP Lounge. Over 300 guests attended included Phil Conway, Head of Private Banking for JP Morgan for the Southeast US, and his wife, Suzie, Jon and Nancy Batchelor, NBC 6 Anchor Jackie Nespral and husband, Dr. Armando Hassun Jr., Bonnie Sellers, CEO, Christie's International Real Estate, Cliff & Monique Lau from Landscape Realty (Hong Kong), Christian Wattia from Sibarth (St. Barths), Joshua Saslove from Joshua & Co. (Aspen, CO).

Additional VIP events included an exclusive reception at the Fairs Official Hotel Partner, Kimpton's EPIC Miami in which guests enjoyed cocktails from Rums of Puerto Rico and Bootlegger 21 NY Vodka as well as sumptuous hors d'oeuvres on the pool deck. The week closed out with an after party hosted by the Bakehouse Art Complex with DJ V and Leo Casino.

"The world's leading international art collectors, influential museum curators, designers, artists and art lovers flocked to both Art Miami and the inaugural edition of CONTEXT Art Miami. As well, we are delighted with the unprecedented sales made throughout the fair – including multiple sold out booths - and the many relationships that were built between collectors and galleries, which means we have accomplished our goal of connecting serious collectors with the most prominent galleries from around the globe displaying the finest in contemporary and modern art," says Nick Korniloff, Director & Partner, Art Miami. Continuing, he notes, "We are especially pleased with the tremendous response to CONTEXT Art Miami and its diverse group of galleries that presented the most important emerging and mid career cutting-edge artists. We must also acknowledge the extraordinary contributions of LaRete Art Projects, Christie's International Real Estate and I PXL U which with the display of several monumental works by Banksy helped ignite a discussion on the preservation of art. Art Miami, and now, CONTEXT Art Miami, will continue to respond to our growing audience in providing exciting, provocative and challenging new works from the world's greatest artists".
